NEW COUNCIL WAS SWORN IN LAST MONDAY

Full Attendance at Regular Meeting — The Standing Committees For the Year Are Appointed

The first meeting of the 1916 council was held in the council chamber last Monday evening. There was a good attendance and the new council was sworn in by the following newly elected members took the oath of office as presented to them by Town Solicitor Mayor Bell and Councilmen Lydell, Crowe, Lavelle and Ireland. When this was done the council met in the usual way for the despatch of such business as might be brought before it.

For the first time in many months there was a full council present. These were Mayor Bell and Councilmen Lydell, Crowe, Lavelle, Ireland, Devitt, and Crowe.

After the reading and confirming of the minutes of the previous meeting, the water committee reported that since the first of November there had been water turned on in 43 houses in town which had been vacant during the summer. This was taken as a fair indication that conditions were improving and gradually returning to normal in town.

On motion of Councilmen Crowe and Ireland, the Mayor was instructed to form the standing committees for the ensuing year. Anticipating this move the Mayor had prepared and presented to the council for their approval the following list:

Water—Councilmen Lavelle, Ireland and Crowe.

Sanitary and Relief—Councilmen Oates, Lavelle, Devitt, Dr. Brown and Engineer Aschewitz.

Public Works—Councilmen Devitt, Lavelle, Oates and Engineer Aschewitz.

Fire and Light—Councilmen Crowe, Lavelle, Devitt and Engineer Aschewitz.

Police and License—Councilmen Ireland, Crowe and Lydell.

The first named member of each committee is to act as chairman of that committee.

The council unanimously approved of the above list as presented by the Mayor.

On motion of Councilmen Crowe and Lavelle, Councilman Ireland was appointed Deputy Mayor.

A 15 days' option on $105,000 of the town's debentures was given to a financial firm in Toronto.

The matter of furnishing expenses to the Mayor when on business in connection with the town, was introduced and on motion of Councilmen Ireland and Lavelle was referred to the finance committee.

Moved by Councilman Lavelle, seconded by Councilman Devitt, that the regular meetings of the council for 1916 be held on the second and fourth Mondays of each month. Carried.

On motion of Councilman Lavelle and Devitt the finance committee was empowered to engage an auctioneer for the tax sale.

As it is necessary for the town to have a board of health, the following were appointed for the ensuing year: Messrs. W. H. Fletcher, Robt. H. Hays, A. W. Woodcock, Dr. Brown and Engineer Aschewitz.

Wm. Keats Had Six Brothers At The Front

Brother Keats, one of our local merchants, is a member of a family which has certainly distinguished itself in the present war. Until last week Mr. Keats had six brothers in the firing line in different battalions in Europe. Last week, however, he received word that two of them had been invalided home. Both of them have been badly used up that they will be unfit for further service. One was severely wounded about the head and limbs, while the other is still suffering from the effects of the poison gas. The other four are still in the firing line and when last heard from had escaped any serious injury. Bill is naturally proud of the boys and will be quite right.

Many New Pupils at Opening of School

School re-opened last Monday after the Christmas holidays. There was a good attendance the opening day and among them were about 20 new pupils. As the majority of the new beginners were for the lower grades the result is that these departments are now taxed almost to capacity.

Promotions from the different grades took place on Tuesday and a number of pupils were advanced, thus relieving the competition in the lower grades and making it possible to take in the beginners without seriously affecting the present staff.

The principal reports good progress throughout the school for the past term and does not anticipate any changes in the present plans except that he is the possibility of adding another teacher to the staff if pupils keep coming in as they have during the past few months.

With the exception of Miss Chatterton the staff is the same this term as last.

Will Extend Term Of Seed Grain Lien

The Minister of Finance has for some time past been taking up with the banks the question of an extension of credit to farmers with the object of increasing livestock production. It is expected that the minister at the approaching session will have amendments proposed to the Bank Act, which will facilitate the granting of a more extended credit for this purpose. The legislation of last session authorized a loan for advances to farmers to purchase seed grain, which was confined to advances made early last year, will be indefinitely extended.

1915 Was Bad Year For John Barleycorn

With the beginning of the new year, Washington, Oregon, Arkansas, Idaho, Colorado, Iowa and South Carolina were over to the dry column, and J. Barleycorn took his departure. On Monday last the people of Ontario succeeded by the local option method, of closing out a few more licenses and increasing the dry area in that province. The number of districts in Quebec also closed out the liquor business.

During the present year, Alberta, Manitoba and without doubt, British Columbia will pass a prohibitory act, and perhaps British Columbia also, if the new prohibition act is passed.

The year 1915 and 1916 saw great reforms in temperance legislation than ever before. In Canada, and perhaps throughout North America, the year 1915 was the year when it will be quite as remarkable as that of 1913.

Bad Wreck on C.P.R. Near Moose Jaw

In one of the worst wrecks that has occurred within recent years No. 53, C. P. R. local Regina to Moose Jaw plunged into the Tri-City express trestle at Moose Jaw shortly after 10 o'clock last Tuesday with the result that at least six passengers received severe shocks and injuries. A well known local merchant, and a C. P. R. engineer, lies pinned to the earth under his engine despite frantic efforts to free him.

Fireman Lauder of the Tri-City express was caught between tender and engine killed. There were two unknown male passengers killed. The cause of the wreck was a misplaced switch and on account of the severe blizzard which was raging the engineer did not notice he was on the wrong track.

Ex-Cabinet Minister In Jail in Germany

Hon. Dr. Heland, former postmaster general of Canada, of whom news was received at the high commissioner's office in London last week, is now reported to be in a Berlin jail having an unpleasant experience, which is rendered worse by the fact that Minister Heland is seriously ill at the German capital. Hon. Dr. Heland, according to reports from London, had done something to increase the esteem of the officials in Berlin who had him removed from the civilian internment camp at the capital.

BRITISH LINER SUNK IN THE MEDITERRANEAN

Was Torpedoed Without a Warning—Estimated that Over 200 Perished—A U. S. Consul Among Lost

The British steamship Perla, sunk in the Mediterranean last Thursday, was torpedoed without warning and sank in five minutes. Between 160 and 180 survivors have been landed at Alexandria, Egypt. Robert N. McNeely, United States consul at Aden, Arabia, is believed to have been aboard. Reuters' Cairo correspondent in a dispatch made the unexpected statement that Mr. McNeely lost his life. Charles H. Grant, of Boston, was saved.

Details of the sinking of the Perla came slowly but such information as was received made it appear that the number of persons who escaped to the four boats which were put off was larger than was thought when the first news was received. The Perla and Oriental company which owned the Perla, announced that 168 survivors had arrived at Alexandria.

It is still impossible to give even with any accuracy the loss of life, as the number of persons on board has not been established. The passengers numbered something more than 200, and there were between 300 and 400 members of the crew, so that apparently the death toll will run largely in excess of 600.

The sinking of the Perla means that a danger threaten the relations between the United States and the Turkish allies. Immediately on hearing of the disaster President Wilson, who was on his honeymoon at Hot Springs, left for Washington to take personal charge of the nation's foreign affairs in this new crisis. The situation is regarded in United States official circles as being the most serious to confront that government since the submarine operations of the central powers began.

Civil Servants Must Join the Colors

Hon. T. W. Crothers, minister of labor, intimated recently that all unmarried men in the Canadian civil service, who are physically fit and of military age, must join the colors before they can be promoted or lose their positions. Returned soldiers, he intimated, are to be given preference in the matter of government positions.

Compulsory Service Bill is Introduced

In the British house of commons yesterday the compulsory military service bill was taken up. It promises to bring on the sharpest parliamentary struggle since the war began.

The Earl of Derby's report on his recruiting campaign, which began on October 28 and ended December 11, estimated that the cabinet found it necessary to bring forward a measure for compulsory enlistment of unmarried men over 20,000,000 in England, Scotland and Wales enrolled themselves, but after those engaged in indispensable industries and military units have been winnowed out about 1,100,000 men available to bear arms remain. But there are 400,000 unmarried men who failed to come forward and the government will now attempt to redeem former Asquith's pledge that the married man should not be called out as long as considerable fraction of unmarried men held back.

Will Have Revenue
From Canuck Canteen
It is stated that an amount exceeding $1,000,000 annually will probably be realized from the Canadian canteen in British camps, which are to be taxed over by the Canadian military authorities a few weeks hence. Such an office has approved of the scheme, which was worked out by Lieut.-Col. McRae at the request of the minister of militia. The relief of disabled soldiers, which will benefit from this, is not any exciting issue.

Compulsory Bill Does Not Seem to Satisfy

According to old duty papers the compulsory bill now before the imperial house will satisfy none of the many elements. Voluntary papers denounce it almost as much as the conscriptional press.

The Daily News goes so far as to predict a general election in the next few months. This newspaper declaration is almost certain that the Labor conference will decide against conscription, the Labor party believing that conscription in the army will be followed by conscription in the work-shops. It adds that the Laborites have decided at the last moment to throw the conference open to the newspapers so that there shall be no distrust in the public mind about the resolutions adopted.

Russian Outlook Is Better Than Ever

Russia has just drafted five million for war service and has five million more to reserve to be called up in the revolving platoon of emigration from Britain, France, the United States and Japan.

The outlook for Russia was better when I left Petrograd, three weeks ago, than it has been during the war," says a Russian high-ranking general who has just landed in America.

School Board Elects Officers For Year

The school board held their first meeting of the year last Monday evening. All the members were present, they were Trustees Lavelle, Hays, Lydell, Patterson and Devitt. Trustees Hays, Lydell and Patterson, the three newly elected trustees, subscribed to the usual oath of office, after which the meeting was called to order for business.

As there was no business of any importance the board proceeded with the election of officers for the year which resulted as follows:

Chairman—W. J. Hays.
Secretary—W. H. Hays.

Instead of dividing themselves into committees the board will act as a whole in the future in the several departments of work.

As Miss Chatterton has been forced through illness to retire from the teaching staff for the present, the principal was instructed to engage another teacher to fill the vacancy. After a few small accounts were passed and ordered to be paid the board adjourned.

Canada To Raise Half Million Men

As a fitting new year's announcement to the Canadian people and to the British empire the prime minister gave in his statement of the authorized Canadian force for overseas service is raised from a quarter million to a half million men. The army of 500,000 volunteers authorized in the authorized Canadian force for overseas service is raised from a quarter million to a half million men. The army of 500,000 volunteers authorized in the authorized Canadian force for overseas service is raised from a quarter million to a half million men.

The message issued to the Canadian people by the prime minister from his home in his residence, is one of pride in what the men of Canada have done during the past year, of sympathy to those who have bravely suffered from the tragedies of war and have learned the full meaning of sacrifice, and of resolute and confident belief in the willingness of all Canadians to redouble the efforts of the past. There will be no pause in Canada for the men of Canada, says the head of the Dominion's army, until the triumph of liberty throughout the world is assured.

Russians Have Made Important Gains

The capture by the Russians of the heights north of Czernowit, where the enemy's line was taken, is held by military experts to be of special importance. They predict that it probably will result in forcing the evacuation of Czernowit by the Rumanian army, giving the Russians a strong foothold in the center of Bukovina and control of the railways into Rumania.

Present System Will Not Secure Victory

The fullest and fairest trial has been given the voluntary system, declared Field Marshal Earl Kitchener, secretary of state for war, addressing the house of lords.

"We are now asking parliament to sanction a change, as it has been proved that in the special circumstances of this unprecedented struggle the existing system, without modification, is not equal to maintaining the army which is needed to secure victory."

"I do not consider the change proposed should be regarded in the light of any derogation of the principle of voluntary service in this country."

Compulsion, he added, affects during the period of the war only one class of men, those who have had no idea of their duty as citizens.

Unconfirmed reports were received at Rome yesterday that Rumania had contacted three army corps on the Bulgarian frontier.

Lord Derby's recruiting figures for the period between October 23 and November 25 show that 1,150,000 men and 1,700,000 married women presented themselves for service.

Gallantly Rescues Two Comrades Under Heavy Enemy Fire—He Was Employed in Coal Mine Here

The Redcliff Brick & Coal Company's office is now adorned with the portrait of one of our coal miners, who is a first class Victoria Cross in Kitchener's army, namely Private Robert Dunsire, of the 15th Royal Scots, (Lothian regiment). Here is the story in Dunsire's own language: "My battalion was acting as reserve to the brigade advancing on Loos. Being attached to the 1st chieftain group I remained behind along with the whole section, when the rest of the battalion marched up Loos. They sped past on to Hill 70. They had, however, to retire, as they had made progress so rapidly that we could not get reinforcements quickly enough. The gun section was ordered to a first trench. I rushed on and we remained here all night. Later we marched on to the firing line. I had just got to the firing line when I saw a black-clad figure lying on the top of a ridge between the lines. He was only about 30 yards from the firing line. I rushed on at terrible speed right up to him, got him on my back and made for my line. I saw a black-clad figure on the man who was badly wounded was hurried to the rear.

I had already suddenly I spied the incident when suddenly I spied another man nearer the German lines. I could not tell whether he was friend or foe, but I decided to grab him and see what he was. I was glad I did so. I found him to be British. He could not move, he was badly injured in the legs. The Germans could see us quite well, and rifles, machine guns and big shells soon made things very hot. I kept him on my back and I rose up gradually and ran for our trench. I saw a black-clad figure on the top of a ridge between the lines. I had just got to the firing line when I saw a black-clad figure lying on the top of a ridge between the lines. He was only about 30 yards from the firing line. I rushed on at terrible speed right up to him, got him on my back and made for my line. I saw a black-clad figure on the man who was badly wounded was hurried to the rear.

This was how Private Robert Dunsire earned his V. C. He was the first man in Kitchener's army to do so. When in Redcliff Dunsire was employed as a coal miner for nine months in the Redcliff Brick & Coal mine. He is a native of Fifehead, Scotland.

The Question is Who Stole The Chair

"The Mysterious Chair" is the title of a comedy drama which, we understand, one of our local Shakespearean players is at present dramatizing with the intention of having it put on here some time in the future by local talent. According to advance notices, the play is a comedy drama, and is laid in an elaborately furnished club room. Several members of the club are jacking a pleasant social evening, when the chair is stolen, and the mystery is solved. In fact it depicts. The mysterious return with no tidings and even while the assemblage is debating as to what to do, the chair returns to its accustomed place as mysteriously as it disappeared. Watch for the play, as we understand the author offers a reward to the one who can solve the mystery and write a sequel.

ANOTHER MILE STONE

Besides being the first issue of the new year this issue of the Review is also the first of a new volume, and marks another mile stone in the history of this paper.

With the closing our last volume a strange situation was brought to our notice. That was that during the year 1915 there were fifty-three Fridays and, consequently, we published fifty-three Reviews. Of course it is not our intention to change our subscribers for the extra edition, we simply mention this in passing.

Commencing with this new volume the Review enters upon the fifth year of its existence under the present management and we trust that as we step over the threshold into the next lap of our career it may continue all through to be as pleasant as the ones we have left behind and at the same time a little more profitable.

The first Redcliff Review was printed early in 1911 and during the first period of its existence it had a somewhat checkered career. In the beginning it was but a small leaflet, published periodically, as business and news warranted. At first the printing was done outside, but later on machinery was installed and the paper assumed the proportions of a real one. At that time, however, the town was still in its swaddling clothes and the paper for by the way, only to be revived again early in 1912 by the present proprietor. From then on the town grew and so did the Review, turning out an issue every week ever since.

Although the past year has been a hard up-hill pull in news-papering, in common with all other businesses, we look back upon the past four years with a degree of pleasure and pride, especially when we recall the trials and tribulations of hand setting and hand presses, and compare them with the up-to-date plant of which the Review can now boast. Like King Midas, we can say "we have done pretty well" and add that we are glad we came and intend to stay.

On this occasion we would take advantage of the opportunity to thank our patrons and friends for the support in the past and to express the hope that we may be favored with a continuance of the same.

A GOOD PLACE FOR SOLDIERS

The announcement is made both by Premier Borden and Sir Sam Hughes that Canada is now expected to raise an army of 500,000 men. In a speech recently Sir Sam said an effort would be made to have the number by the end of the summer of 1916. According to the allotments Alberta will be expected to raise at least 25,000 more troops.

At the present time there are thousands of soldiers in training in the different larger centers of this province and since no attention has been given to the smaller towns in this regard in the past, it would be a good idea if the militia department could work out some scheme whereby these places could be made the training quarters for some of the additional troops which are to be raised. In this connection there is probably not a town in Alberta in a better position to accommodate at least half a battalion than Redcliff is at the present time. There are just now several boarding houses and an hotel which, although vacant, are fully furnished and could be made ready for occupancy in a few hours notice. At a conservative estimate we should say that right at the present time, with but a few hours preparation, Redcliff could comfortably accommodate at least 500 soldiers.

Then too, the question of fuel and water is a big consideration for the convenience and housing of soldiers but so far as Redcliff is concerned this should not cause the militia department a thought, as all the buildings are connected up with natural gas and one of the best supplies of water in the province, so that both could be put into commission in every building in a matter of hours.

All things being considered there is no reason in the world why Redcliff should not have its share of the new troops which are to be recruited.

A GOOD START

Looking at conditions locally, and forgetting for the moment the great conflict still raging in Europe, Redcliff enters upon the new year of 1916 with much more promising prospects than those under which we started out a year ago.

First there was the bumper crop of the district surrounding the town which meant so much new money to the district and furnished labor to so many of the unemployed. Then there was the starting of operations in some of our industries, giving more employment and bringing back some of the families which had scattered to different places during the slack season. Now comes the announcement that the rolling mills are to increase their staff from time to time and next week the glass plant opens up with a full force of over one hundred men.

As a result of these activities vacant houses are gradually being occupied and conditions are returning to normal. We are making a good start and have every reason to expect that conditions will improve as the year progresses.

HER BIT IS APPRECIATED

Ever since the commencement of the war Canada has been doing her share nobly in rendering assistance to the Empire both in men and money, but it is only in this direction that she has been playing her part in these trying times. By her liberal donations to patriotic funds, relief funds, Red Cross funds and kindred lines she has been doing her share towards helping to relieve distress and want, not only among her own people but also amongst those of the Empire's allies.

That her work along these lines is being appreciated to the fullest extent and are crowning Canada with undying laurels, may be seen by the following citations recently by a leading Belgian citizen:

"To Canada we are forced to look for assistance now in these dark days of destitution. Our children are crying and our women pleading for the four corners of the globe to give. We will never forget what Canada is doing for us—for our women and children, many of them rescued by our common cause—and when the rehabilitation begins Canada will profit industrially.

"To many today Canada is represented by the Belgian Relief committee of Montreal, but while peace is declared Canada will be known here and will know Belgium as never before."

King Peter of Serbia, who is staying at the Serbian consulate in Salonika, is expected to preside over the reorganization of the Serbian army. The army is gradually being assembled at Salonika, according to the dispatch, groups of 400 to 500 men arriving from time to time.

ENDORSE THE IDEA

What Four Prominent Canadian Premier Says of "Made-in-Canada"

"Mr. George" Prentiss, Minister of Trade and Commerce, "I have often, with great interest the campaign has been so capably conducted in favor of the 'Made-in-Canada' idea. I am very glad the matter, of course, viewed from the point of view of the moment, and cannot find myself of the conviction that one of the best results possible is that we who buy in Canada—and all of us buy more or less—shall make it a point wherever possible, to purchase for our needs what has been made by Canadian hands and of Canadian material. In this way we would considerably assist in the quick reduction of unemployment and the quick revival of production and trade."

Hon. Walter Scott, Premier of Saskatchewan: "If all Canadians started to consciously prefer the manufacture of their own country, as they do on the other side of the border, the products, there would be a splendid two-fold result—the sum of our national prosperity would be increased, and more important still, the sense of pride and confidence in Canada would be increased also."

Hon. J. H. Murray, Premier of Nova Scotia: "The 'Made-in-Canada' campaign has my heartiest sympathy. I am sure it will meet with a generous response from all Canadians. The movement aims at the development not only of a practical patriotism but also of the spirit of mutual helpfulness among our people."

Sir Richard McBride, Premier of British Columbia: "I am very glad to say anything that I can in support of the most commendable idea contained in your programme. One of the needs of this war has been to arouse the people of Canada to the necessity of a greater production in various lines of industry, and I know of nothing which will tend to promote this more than the campaign you are now engaged in."

STORY OF A STORE

Tom Tasker had a corner store. He got it from his father who built up his trade from the farmers; that spent their money for things made in Canada. Taskerville grew into a little town of retail dealers and electric lights. Tom's business developed and he got an automobile, a $10,000 house, and a big store with plate glass, patent show-cases and a stenographer.

The blacksmith shop grew into a carriage factory; the local cabinet-maker became a furniture manufacturer.

A few years ago when a wide-awake man discovered that the country around Taskerville had the very best kind of soil and climate for raising tomatoes, cucumbers, sold peas, corn and small fruits, and reckoned it a good stroke of business to start a canning factory in Taskerville, the farmers fetched their truck to the factory which became as good a purveyor of canned goods as any in Canada. His products were found in the mixing camps and the kitchens of the wealthy that went to grand opera. But whenever any farmer went to the store of Tom Tasker, built up from their farms in two generations, they never could find a blessed tin of the Taskerville factory's goods on his shelves. When they asked him why he wouldn't encourage home industry and stock up with home goods, he said he reckoned he knew his own business.

Wherefore the farm folk round about Taskerville boycotted the Tasker store, and Tom Tasker made an assignment. Which, to most sensible folks' way of thinking was the only way to prove to the Tasker intellect that you can't expect both boots to fit the same foot.

This is a homely illustration and localized to Taskerville; but if it doesn't prove that it is the duty of the retailer in Canada to keep on his shelves the goods made in Canada by Canadian workmen at a time when Canada is making the test of her life to stay industrially efficient, then there must be something wrong with the argument. Think it over.

La Grippe appears to be the order of the day and everyone around here is in the grip of it. Not even the Review has escaped. Our whole staff is suffering from the epidemic and for two days we debated whether we would turn the office into a hospital or try to get out the regular edition. We finally decided that the office was unfortunately we do not feel as fit as under normal conditions, consequently our first number on the new publishing day will be delayed a few hours. With a few more doses of hot ginger-ton and a few more applications of goose grease we hope to be ourselves again.

TREASURERS AT BUCKINGHAM

Three Vaults at the Palace Contain Many Valuables

The treasure vaults on the basement floor of Buckingham Palace are of almost fabulous value, comprising the vast accumulation of jewels, armor, statuary, pictures, furniture and other art objects which have come into the possession of the royal family through various channels during the last two centuries, and for which no accommodation can be found in the public and state apartments or the royal residences. The contents of the third vault may almost be termed priceless. Of gold ornaments alone there are over six thousand, weighing considerably over a ton in all, and many individual items would bring thousands of dollars in the open market. Most of these treasures came to Queen Victoria as gifts from other sovereigns.

Mathematics in the Orient. The Japanese mathematician, Yoshio Mikami, writing of the development of mathematics in the Far East, showed that the Orientals on the Pacific were already acquainted, as early as the third and fourth centuries of our era, with facts and theories in mathematics which were unknown in Europe several centuries later. Early as the middle or latter half of the sixth century the Chinese were in possession of all the principles of handling vulgar fractions, having in this a thousand years or so ahead of Europe.

The Bulgarians are reluctant to take the risk of employing their whole army in the Balkan enterprise. They claim that with the conquest of Serbian and the re-opening of the railway between Belgrade and Constantinople their part of the bargain is completed.

W'E PEOPLE CAN GIVE AID

Insist on "Made-in-Canada" Goods—Retailer and Wholesaler Will Soon Fall in Line

Too often in the past the wholesalers and retailers of Canada have openly opposed the "Made-in-Canada" movement. Where they have not opposed it they have damned it with faint praise. Their motive in so doing are purely selfish. Very often they are a share of Canada's trade the foreign manufacturer quotes particularly attractive prices to the dealer, prices which enable both wholesaler and retailer to extract a greater profit than usual from the sale of these goods. The foreign manufacturer is able to do this because the Canadian market is only a small part of his total market, and he can easily sell at a low profit or even at cost, on other work. Consequently, in this small market in order to secure control of the trade, whereas the Canadian manufacturer, who when Canada is the whole market, cannot afford to do business at a loss to meet the foreigner's prices.

THE "Toronto Globe," in an article on the "Made-in-Canada" question the other day, explains the reasons for the "Made-in-Canada" campaign going direct to the people on this ground. Under the heading, "Home Production or Bankruptcy," the "Globe" says:

"The people in the end can force the storekeeper or the dealer to give up the foreign goods. The reason for this should be, especially in the light of present conditions, why he should encourage home production without being forced to do so. He should not work out our exports as well as our imports have decreased with serious rapidity, and the result is that the Canadian-made goods are not sold in greater quantities than the whole sale dealer must inevitably suffer, simply because a very large number of their present customers, people who work in factories and in offices dependent on factories, will be forced out of employment. Furthermore, the 'Made-in-Canada' movement, which means increased production in departments at home, is the only method of raising the one hundred and fifty millions of interest which is due each year on the country's indebtedness."

W. T. Oates is going strong into the dog business. He is making a specialty of the black coppers and last week purchased "Dinky One" one of the finest dogs of this breed in Canada. He is a champion in his class and defeated all the crack champions at the Winnipeg dog shows in 1914. With this addition to his string Mr. Oates now claims he has the best cocker strains in Canada.

A watch night service was held in the Presbyterian church New Year's eve. There was a good turnout when the service commenced at 11 o'clock. Appropriate addresses were given by the pastor, Rev. G. J. Gordon, and Rev. D. Campbell of the Baptist congregation. Just at midnight, when the seven drums and whistles were ushering in the new year, the congregation were engaged in silent prayer and the new year's greetings were exchanged.

Owing to the Christmas holidays and the severe weather shows that the Red Cross meetings have not been so largely attended for the last few months as they were at the time of forming an independent organization has not as yet been disposed of. It is in the intention, however, to reach this question at the regular meeting Tuesday and it is urgently requested that there be a full attendance.

Statistics have estimated that the number of 100,000 troops for Canada means the calling out of men of every three between the ages of 18 and 45 years. Alberta's proportion, on that basis, would be in the vicinity of 80,000. As she has already given 21,700 men to the colors, this province is in a fair way to recruit its whole quota very soon, even under the maximum allowed under the new authorization.
